Passport and visa requirements for non-eu citizens

OeAD, Austria's Agency for Education and Internationalisation, has set up a website, which can help you determine what you need in order to lawfully enter and stay in Austria: oead.at/en/to-austria/entry-and-residence/third-countries. Most likely you will have to submit your application at the competent Austrian representative authority in your country of residence and await the decision there.

Beyond the general passport and visa requirements, Austria has implemented the Entry/Exit system. The Entry/Exist system (EES for short) registers short stays of non-EU citizens in the EU member states.

Please note that the general information above may not replace the need for detailed advice in individual cases. Despite all care in its research, we do not assume any liability for its accuracy, completeness, and topicality. Finally, when linking to other websites, we do not assume any liability for their contents. To assure a trouble-free application process, we strongly advise you to contact the competent Austrian representative authority in your home country for individual counselling.

Registration as a resident

As an international citizen in Austria, you are subject to Austrian residential registration law. This means that you will need to register with the authorities within three days of your arrival to Austria. This concerns EU/EEA students just as it does non-EU/EEA nationals or Austrian nationals. The responsible authority for residential registration in Krems is:

Bürgerservicestelle Krems located within City Hall.

Obere Landstraße 4, 3500 Krems on the Danube

Opening hours are Monday – Friday 8.00–12.00

In order to register successfully, you need to bring your passport and a filled-out registration form. The registration form is available online under the following link: krems.at/fileadmin/user_upload/Meldezettel.pdf.

The registration form needs to be fully filled out and requires the signature of your landlord.

EU/EEA citizens who are staying in Austria for longer than three months will need to further acquire a Confirmation of Registration (Anmeldebescheinigung) within the first four months of their stay as documentation of their right of residence in accordance with Union law. You can also collect this document from Bürgerservicestelle when bringing your passport and your signed registration form. Before you leave Austria, at the end of your stay, you will need to deregister with the authorities. For that you need to hand in a filled out registration form without your landlord's signature at Bürgerservicestelle.

Insurance

If you are employed with University for Continuing Education Krems, there will be automatic health insurance coverage. Spouses and partners can be included into this insurance by paying a top-up. Children are included without any extra charges. Visitors from EU and EEA countries as well as from countries that uphold a social security agreement with Austria do not need extra insurance. They only have to carry form A1 from their home insurance company. Social security agreements are also upheld with Bosnia and Hercegovina, Northern Macedonia, Montenegro, Serbia and Turkey. Visitors from non-EU/EEA countries not employed with the University for Continuing Education Krems need to secure adequate health, accident, and liability insurance for the entire time of their stay in Austria before arrival.

Life in Austria and Krems

Austria

Austria lies at the very heart of Central Europe bordered by eight countries, which are Germany, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Slovenia, Italy, Liechtenstein, and Switzerland. The official language is German but you will soon find that the majority of its around 9 million inhabitants speaks local dialects. Austria consists of nine federal states: Burgenland, Carinthia, Lower Austria (to which Krems belongs to), Salzburg, Styria, Upper Austria, Vienna (simultaneously the largest city and the country's capital), Tyrol and Vorarlberg. Beyond Vienna, the major urban areas of Austria are Graz, Linz, Innsbruck, and Salzburg, which are all just a short train ride from Krems. In 1995, the country joined the European Union, signed the Schengen Agreement, and adopted the Euro as its official currency in 1999.

Austria's landscape varies considerably. Around two thirds of the country are covered by the Alps, which make for a beautiful scenery full of picturesque lakes and great hiking routes through beautiful nature. To the East, Austria is rather flat and fertile. Eastern Austrian regions, including Krems, are especially famous for their wine. Europe's only major river flowing eastwards, the Danube, also passes through the country. The country's north is shaped by the Bohemian Forest, resulting in a hilly and forested landscape. Austria lies in the Central European transitional climatic zone, resulting in warm summers and snowy winters.

Krems

Krems an der Donau (Krems upon the Danube) is the fifth-largest city of Lower Austria, located around 60 kilometers west of Vienna and home to approximately 25,000 inhabitants. In Krems, the rivers Danube and Krems meet at the eastern end of the idyllic Wachau valley, formed by the Danube River and listed on the UNESCO List of World Heritage Sites.

The abundance of historic buildings and architecture from the middle ages in the center of Krems tells of its meaningful past. The community, already mentioned in the year 995 as "urbs chremisa", was once the center of salt and wine trading and is one of the oldest towns in the country. You can still feel a medieval touch when hiking through the Wachau valley, which is framed by many fortresses and ruins. Its connection with its history and its vicinity to breathtaking nature combined with its lively atmosphere resulting from many cafés, restaurants and shops around the city offer the perfect place for your studies.

University for Continuing Education Krems

In 1995, the University for Continuing Education Krems, which had been founded one year previously, moved into the premises of an old tobacco factory, a characteristic industrial building dating back to the start of the 20th century.

Since October 2005, the University for Continuing Education Krems has been a campus university. Spanning an area of 34,000 square meters, the campus is utilized jointly by University for Continuing Education Krems, IMC University of Applied Sciences Krems and Karl Landsteiner University of Health Sciences. It is equipped with state of the art teaching and research facilities, comfortable accommodations, a varied range of food services, and an arthouse cinema. In August 2008, the campus was further extended via the service center "Campus West". It complements the existing services for students and university staff in an optimal way by providing a hotel, restaurants, office and training spaces and a car park. The modern adaptation of the old tobacco factory and the new premises at "Campus Krems" offer students and teachers an open and motivating environment that promotes innovation. Next to the already mentioned modern teaching and research spaces, the facilities also include a library, an auditorium, a cinema, and a variety of restaurants.
