I am looking for articles for my work - but how?

The fastest way to start a literature search for electronic media is through the simple search in the Biber research tool

Enter your search term →

Suchoptionen Einfache Suche Erweiterte Suche Suchverlauf

The simple search

Enter the desired term in the search field of the simple search. You can also search for the title of the article or journal, the author or an identification number such as ISSN or ISBN.

Biber searches through all licensed databases for full texts. The most relevant content is lined up.

In addition to articles from e-journals, you also get access to e-books and other source types.

The advanced search

You can pre-set multiple search criteria and link the search terms to Boolean operators.

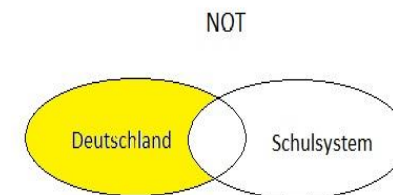

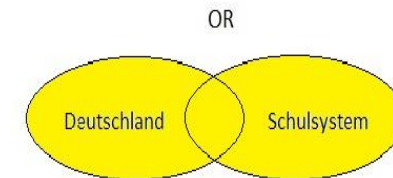

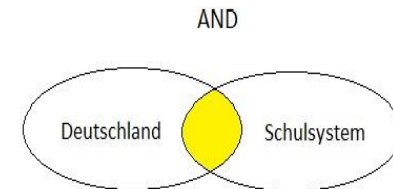

Other search settings such as searching for charts or images can also be set.

Boolean operators ...

... offers the possibility to combine search terms with each other, to limit and optimize the number of hits

Operators can be AND, OR & NOT

Useful and worth knowing

- You will receive hits that are licensed on the one hand by the library, on the other hand also open access titles
- On the left side you have the option to restrict the search results
- With some hits you come directly over the PDF link to the full text, with some you are "redirected" over the publishing side. Always look for this symbol:  PDF-Volltext

For remote access, you must first identify yourself as a student of Danube University.

You will find a YELLOW BAR with the link on the BIBER homepage:

Hello, Login for full access

Log in here with your DUK Account (Novell-Login )data.

The beaver account has nothing to do with the actual research. Here you have the possibility to create an account privately to manage your search results.

Could I also search for a certain magazine?

Of course you can ... just stay on the BIBER homepage and take a look upwards

- In the hit list, you can recognize the period for which we have a license for and you will be connected directly to the e-journal via the database link

If you do not receive a hit:

- ✓ Check the spelling again, maybe a typo has crept in
- ✓ We do not have a license and therefore no results can be shown to you

I have heard of a database and I want to explore it!

No Problem!

You will find our licensed databases under the heading "Datenbanken" in the research tool BIBER

What you should know about our databases

- ✓ If you move your mouse over the logo, you will receive a short summary
- ✓ Not all of our databases have remote access. Access to the full texts only works on the campus of the Danube University
- ✓ Some databases contain only evidence and no full texts
- ✓ Not all the contents of a database are licensed - so do not be surprised if you do not have access to some hits

The proof of the pudding is in the eating

Just test the search. It is best to take some time to sniff our offers in peace

NOTHING CAN HAPPEN
PROMISED !
